Terry Akins Joins ComSouth to Promote Monitoring Services

Hawkinsville, GA—May, 2010 ComSouth Corporation announced that Terry Akins will join the ComSouth team to represent and promote their monitoring services. Mr. Akins' extensive experience in alarm monitoring, sales, and relationship management and a proven track record of consistently meeting or exceeding sales and profitability goals in highly competitive markets will be an incredible asset to the company.

His duties at ComSouth include representing ComSouth Monitoring Services to prospective security dealers throughout the Southeastern United States as well as acting as a liaison between customers and ComSouth Monitoring.

“We are excited to welcome Terry Akins to the team. He brings extraordinary talent, depth, experience and leadership that will assist in taking ComSouth Monitoring to the next level,” said Robert W. Krueger, President and CEO of ComSouth.

A graduate of the Georgia Institute of Technology, Mr. Akins, co-founded Alarm Control Inc. of Florida during the early 1970s. His success in the company as overall manager and later president of the company enabled him to take the company public in 1997. His success in the industry continued as his position of C.O.O. at Guardian International where under his direction, the company grew in acquisitions from $300,000 to $1.3 million in 4 years. Mr. Akins provides ComSouth with a well rounded approach to sales, customer service, and business-to-business relationship management.
