ComSouth Corporation Acquires Valley Cable

Hawkinsville, GA—February 2010 ComSouth Corporation announced they have completed negotiations in acquiring Valley Cable in Fort Valley. For over 40 years, the community of Fort Valley has received cable television, telephone and internet services from the Barnes family-owned business. ComSouth will be obtaining and providing service to XX customers as part of the acquisition.

ComSouth will now provide residents of Fort Valley additional state-of-the-art technology including HDTV, DVR capabilities, high speed broadband Internet, and comprehensive voice services. Additionally, ComSouth will offer customers bundled packages that enable them to receive their favorite services at a discounted rate.

“ComSouth is excited to have the opportunity to serve the community of Fort Valley. The benefits of the acquisition provide residents with advanced services, while maintaining the local, hometown customer experience that has made Valley Cable TV successful,” stated Robert Krueger, President and CEO of ComSouth.

ComSouth Corporation also announced that Bobby Barnes, President Valley Cable, will remain as manager for ComSouth in the Fort Valley office. Current Valley Cable customers will begin receiving information on existing services and new offers within the next XX days from ComSouth. For additional information, please contact XXX at XXXXX.
